BAPTIST CHURCH OPENING

AN EPOCH MARKING EVENT IN BRYAN'S HISTORY.

PROPERTY INCORPORATED, $40,000

Building and Furnishings Cost $28,250.00.
Church Officers and Committees.
Program.

This day witnesses the opening of Bryan's new First Baptist church and marks an important epoch in the history of the city's moral and material advancement. It is another splendid achievement of christian zeal; a milestone on the road from time to eternity, pointing the way; a house of refuge where the weary and sin sick wayfarer may find rest and peace and strength to renew his journey; a bulwark of religion; a temple dedicated to the living God.

The Eagle has heretofore given in detail, in connection with the laying of the cornerstone, the history of the Bryan Baptist church and the successive steps of progress leading up to the building of this magnificent house of worship. Work on it was begun in June of last year, and the cornerstone was laid with imposing ceremonies in August. The total cost of the great enterprise for building and furnishings foots up $28,250.00, and no investment ever made in the community will yield greater returns. Aside from its moral and spiritual influence upon religious and social life and citizenship, it adds material value to every foot of property in Bryan, and is a credit not only to the community, but to the county and the state. The people of the entire community share with the Baptist congregation the thankfulness and just pride which fills their hearts this Sabbath morning.

The new church is Gothic in its style of architecture. The general dimensions are 104x83 feet, with a principal tower 98 feet high. It is a solid and substantial brick structure, good for a couple of centuries of service, and at the same time elaborate in design and ornate in finish. The exterior is striking and handsome in appearance, with sixty-four art glass windows of varying shapes and sizes, suited to the location. Among these are large memorial windows in loving remembrance of Major J. W. Tabor and Col. A. M. Rhodes, the designs being from famous paintings. Massive staff ornaments surmount the gables and beautiful finials adorn the modern roof. Over the portals elaborate and artistic designs in terracotta blend with the red and buff brick work. Solid stone steps lead up to the several vestibuled entrances.

The interior embraces, on the first floor, the auditorium, Sunday school or lecture room, two class rooms, pastor's study, ladies' parlor and dining room. In the basement are the kitchen and furnace rooms. Two large furnaces are used, one for heating the auditorium and the other for the remainder of the building.

A handsome stairway leads from the lecture room to the second story, where are located three large class rooms separated by folding doors. All three rooms may be thrown into one for social purposes, and in case of overflow congregations down stairs, may be used as a gallery to the main auditorium.

The auditorium and Sunday school room, when thrown together by means of raising the light partition through the center, have a seating capacity to accommodate 1000 persons. The pews and pulpit are quarter sawed golden oak finish, a green velvet carpet covers the sloping floor and two hundred and twenty electric lights magnificently illuminate the building. Of these fifty bulbs adorn the arched ceiling of the auditorium, while other lights are held in oxydized chandeliers. Ionic columns support the superstructure. The interior finishing colors are old ivory with acrow walls. A baptistry is provided in the rear of the pulpit, where is also located the organ niche. Ample space is provided, with raised floor, to the right of the organ and pulpit for a great choir. A $3,500 pipe organ, now being built by the Hutchins-Votey Company of Boston, will be installed about May 1, and will make the church complete in every detail. In the absence of the organ a piano will be used for the service today.

While credit is due to the entire congregation, to some more than to others, and to former pastors, no one has had a greater part in this great work than the present pastor, Dr. George B. Butler. Under his guiding hand the enterprise has grown from an idea to a reality. His industry, zeal and consecration have been an inspiration to the congregation, and the hearty co-operation of his helpers, has been to him an unfailing source of reliance.

The officials of the church and the committees having the enterprise in hand are as follows:

Dr. Geo. B. Butler, pastor; H. O. Boatwright, W. S. Howell, T. E. Taylor, Jno. A. Moore, W. R. Sanders, J. M. Hare, W. A. Withers, deacons; Sam M. Hunter, church clerk; F. Marion Law, Jr., treasurer.

Building Committee—F. Marion Law, Jr., chairman; Mesdames J. Allen Myers, Robt. S. Webb, Geo. B. Butler, G. M. Brandon, H. A. Burger, H. Rohde; Messrs. W. S. Howell, J. M. Hare, T. E. Taylor, I. H. Newton, H. G. Rhodes, S. H. Brockman, J. R. Astin, D. A. Hortman.

Finance Committee—Dr. J. W. Howell, chairman; Mesdames J. C. Williams, T. R. Batte, M. Nagle, W. S. Howell; Messrs. H. O. Boatwright, W. A. Withers, W. R. Sanders, Jno. A. Moore, E. F. Parks, W. C. Davis, A. J. Buchanan, E. J. Fountain, H. B. Norwood, H. A. Burger.

The church property including the grounds, church and parsonage was recently incorporated for $40,000.00, with the following trustees: Dr. J. W. Howell, T. R. Batte, E. J. Fountain, A. W. Buchanan, I. H. Newton.

Architect C. H. Page of Austin drew the plans for the building. Prof. F. E. Giesecke of College Station was supervising architect, and Nelson & Harrison of Waco, contractors.

Ribbon Cane Frozen.

Cameron, Tex., March 4.—John B. McLane had 8000 stalks of ribbon cane frozen during the recent cold weather. He intended to plant the cane on his farm near town. After learning that his seed cane was frozen he ground it up and made syrup out of it. It is now too late to get seed cane to supply his demand.

Costly Forgetfulness.

Waco, Tex., March 4.—Burglars entered the French bakery run by Otto Berlich and secured $450 from the safe. In closing the store Friday night Berlich forgot to lock the safe.

MINOR MATTERS.

A large flour mill will soon be put up at Lawton.

Frisco bridge five miles north of Paris, Tex., partly burned.

Oil prospectors will soon begin work in vicinity of Mineola, Tex.

Many trains of oranges from California pass through Texas.

Young Pi, a Chinaman, died at Fort Worth of cancer of the liver.

A tree fell on Allen Mason near Justin, Tex., cutting a four-inch gash in his scalp.

A young man named Fred Degamere was drowned in Black Bear creek, in the Osage nation.

In a difficulty at Garner, I. T. Dr. Nick Nash was killed by Deputy United States Marshal Tilley.

Fred Bradt of Cleo, Okla., who was shot by a bullet intended for another, after lingering a week died.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Fifty-Eighth Session of National Legislative Body Brought to an End.

Washington, March 4.—Speaker Cannon at 11:55 o'clock Saturday morning declared the Fifty-fifth session of the lower house of congress at an end. The president was at his room in the capitol building and signed a number of bills passed during the last hours of both senate and house.

NEARLY CHOKED.

Proprietor of Pool Room Tried to Swallow Alleged Evidence.

New York, March 4.—In his anxiety to swallow alleged incriminating evidence during a raid in Brooklyn Hugh Winters, the reputed proprietor of a pool room, nearly choked to death. His life was saved by the prompt action of ambulance surgeon. When the obstruction was removed from Winters' throat with the aid of instruments, it was found to be part of a racing sheet.

Winters and ten other men found in the place were arrested, but released on bail. The alleged pool room was in the rear of a saloon. When the raiders broke in about fifty men bolted through doors and windows before they could be halted.

Winters was found in a corner of the room, coughing and choking and in convulsions. In his hands he held part of a torn racing card. He was purple in the face and frothing at the mouth. An ambulance was quickly summoned with the result noted. The scrap removed from the prisoner's throat was carefully preserved as evidence by the police.

INTERVIEW WITH J. B. STEVENSON.

He Talks About a Matter of Interest to the People of Bryan and Brazos County.

In the elegant office of the Stevenson Machine and Repair Works of Bryan, the Eagle reporter on a recent visit found J. B. Stevenson at his desk, and taking a seat in one of the easy chairs, chatted the head of the firm for a pleasant half hour about the purposes of the company since the purchase of a half interest in the works by Ralph B. Dunn. Mr. Dunn is a Robertson county boy, a graduate of the A. & M. College Mechanical engineering course, the kind of a man who is needed to help forward so great an enterprise as the Stevenson Machine and Repair Works is destined to become—in fact, we might say, already is. J. B. Stevenson himself, a regular indentured machinist from one of Pennsylvania's greatest manufacturing plants, has built up a big manufacturing business here, and his ambition knows no limits, short of continuing to a brilliant completion his work of building up a large manufacturing enterprise.

The work of manufacturing complete cotton elevator outfits and gin brushes might be named as the specialty of this establishment. For their work in these lines they have a great steam engine to furnish power for operating many ingenious machines of the latest patterns, and another engine and dynamo to furnish their own electric lights. They have their own water works also, and are as "independent as wood-sawyers" and as busy as the little busy bees.

Twenty-four elevator outfits are now in course of construction. These outfits are an original system of their own, are in use in many gins throughout Central Texas, and none better are made anywhere. Gin brushes are manufactured, the tedious work that used to be done by hand being all done by machinery here, and one machine for boring holes for insertion of bristles, made complete in the Stevenson Works is so ingenious that an order has been placed for duplicate by one of the largest gin manufacturing concerns in the world.

The company have in stock a number of fine gasoline engines manufactured by the Fairbanks-Morse company. They are selling these engines, pumping jacks, corn mills, etc., etc., throughout this part of Texas.

They will in a short while be working a large force of men night and day, turning out their manufactured products, and keeping up with their extensive repair business. They are going to extend an invitation to the public to visit their shop at some convenient time, and public spirit should prompt the people, even if curiosity did not, to go and see Bryan's biggest manufacturing concern in operation.

SYMPHONY OF COLOR.

Decorations Greeted the Eye Everywhere at National Capital.

Washington, March 4.—The immense number of visitors in the city saw Washington in a mass of decorations. They greeted the eye at every turn. From every flagstaff the stars and stripes floated on the breeze. Great buildings were enfolded in the national emblem, while above the white dome of the capitol was an immense American flag. From the topmost point of the graceful granite shaft erected in memory of the first president was a single American emblem of vivid red, white and blue against the sky. Decorations throughout the city were more elaborate and beautiful than on the occasion of any previous presidential inauguration. Twice as many flags were used this year as ever before and the splendid scheme adopted for the city's adornment has never been surpassed.

The city and county officers have been co-operating in making it warm for the vagrants lately, and say they are going to keep it up, and those who haven't the money to pay fines will have to work them out. This is one thing Bryan has needed for a long time. Let the good work go on.

ELECTION ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Bryan:

That an election for city officers, to-wit: Marshal, Secretary and three members of the city council, shall be held by the qualified voters of said city, at the city hall in Bryan on the first Tuesday in April next, it being the fourth day of said month; and the presiding officer, together with such others as he may appoint, shall hold said election in accordance with the city charter and ordinances and the state law governing elections.

Adopted by the city council and approved by the Mayor, this 17th day of January, 1905.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

Strengthen the Stomach With Mi-o-na and Get Perfect Health.

The source of health is the stomach and the digestive system. When acting as Nature designed they should, the organs of digestion do their work regularly and unconsciously, like a perfect machine.

Those who use Mi-o-na do not have a sallow complexion, sunken cheeks, nor flabby flesh. Their skin has a ruddy glow, the eyes are bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic. In short, the users of Mi-o-na have the maximum of good health and are plump, rosy and robust.

Nine-tenths of all sickness comes from a weak stomach, causing loss of flesh, shattered nerves, flatulency, heartburn, sick headaches, backaches, spots before the eyes, rheumatic troubles, and general weakness and debility. Take a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal, and all irritation, congestion and inflammation in the stomach or bowels will be immediately soothed and relieved. In fact, the stomach will become well and strong and the whole system filled with strength and vitality.

Even if a weakened stomach has brought you to a chronic stage of ill health, where life is one long drawn out pain, do not despair. Mi-o-na will effect a cure if the simple directions in each 50c box are faithfully followed.

Read the guarantee given by E. J. Jenkins with every package of Mi-o-na he sells. He pledges himself in this guarantee to refund the money, should Mi-o-na fail to help.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Duties to Others and to Ourselves
Must Not Be Shirked.

Washington, March 4.—Following is the inaugural address of President Roosevelt:

My Fellow Citizens: No people on earth have more cause to be thankful than ours, and this is said reverently, and in no spirit of boastfulness in our own strength, but with gratitude to the Giver of Good, who has blessed us with the conditions which have enabled us to achieve so large a measure of well being and of happiness. To us as a people it has been granted to lay the foundations of our national life in a new continent. We are the heirs of the ages, and yet we have had to pay few of the penalties which in old countries are exacted by the dead hand of a bygone civilization. We have not been obliged to fight for our existence against any alien race; and yet our life has called for the vigor and effort without which the manlier and harder virtues wither away. Under such conditions it would be our own fault if we failed; and the success which we have had in the past, the success which we confidently believe the future will bring, should cause in us no feeling of vain glory, but rather a deep and abiding realization of all which life has offered us; a full acknowledgment of responsibility which is ours; and a fixed determination to show that under a free government a mighty people can thrive best, alike as regards the things of the body and the things of the soul.

Much has been given to us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves, and we can shirk neither. We have become a great nation, forced by the fact of its greatness into relation with the other nations of the earth, and we must behave as becometh a people with such responsibilities. Toward all other nations, large and small, our attitude must be one of cordial and sincere friendship. We must show not only in our words, but in our deeds, that we are earnestly desirous of securing their good will by acting toward them in a spirit of just and generous recognition of all their rights. But justice and generosity in a nation, as in an individual, count most when shown not by the weak, but by the strong. While ever careful to refrain from wronging others, we must be no less insistent that we are not wronged ourselves. We wish peace; but we wish the peace of justice, the peace of righteousness. We wish it because we think it is right and not because we are afraid. No weak nation that acts manfully and justly should ever have cause to fear us, and no strong power should ever be able to single us out as a subject for insolent aggression.

Our relations with the other powers of the world are important; but still more important are our relations among ourselves. Such growth in wealth, in population, and in power as this nation has seen during the century and a quarter of its national life is inevitably accompanied by a like growth in the problems which are ever before every nation that rises to greatness. Power invariably means both responsibility and danger. Our forefathers faced certain perils which we have outgrown. We now face other perils the very existence it was impossible that they should foresee. Modern life is both complex and intense, and the tremendous changes wrought by the extraordinary industrial development of the last half century are felt in every fibre of our social and political being. Never before have men tried so vast and formidable an experiment as that of administering the affairs of a continent under the forms of a democratic republic. The conditions which have led to our marvelous material well-being, which have developed to a very high degree our energy, self-reliance and individual initiative, have also brought the care and anxiety inseparable from the accumulation of great wealth in industrial centers. Upon the success of our experiment much depends; not only as regards our own welfare, but as regards the welfare of mankind. If we fail, the cause of free self-government throughout the world will rock to its foundations, and therefore our responsibility is heavy, to ourselves, to the world as it is to-day and to the generations yet unborn. There is no good reason why we should fear the future, but there is every reason why we should face it seriously, neither hiding from ourselves the gravity of the problems before us nor fearing to approach these problems with the unbending, unflinching purpose to solve them aright.

Yet, after all, though the problems are new, though the tasks set before our fathers who founded and preserved this republic, the spirit in which these tasks must be undertaken and these problems faced, if our duty is to be well done, remains essentially unchanged. We know that self-government is difficult. We know that no people needs such high traits of character as that people which seeks to govern its affairs aright through the freely expressed will of the freemen who compose it. But we have faith that we shall not prove false to the memories of the men of the mighty past. They did their work, they left us the splendid heritage we now enjoy. We in our turn have an assured confidence that we shall be able to leave this heritage unwasted and enlarged to our children and our children's children. To do so we must show, not merely in great crises, but in the everyday affairs of life, the qualities of practical intelligence, of courage, of hardihood and endurance, and, above, the power of devotion to a lofty ideal, which made great the men who founded this republic in the days of Washington; which made great the men who preserved this republic in the days of Abraham Lincoln.

meeting was held yesterday according to call, after several postpone-ments. L. D. McGee was in the chair, and Earnest Beard secretary.
J. H. White made a report of his trip to New Orleans in company with F. A. Capps, as delegates to the national cotton growers convention.
An executive committee, was appointed to keep up the work of agitation for diversification and reduction of cotton acreage. Committee,
L. D. McGee, J. H. White, I. M.
Cook, O. L. Wilcox, Prof. R. F.
Smith, J. W. Mathis. The committee are to distribute blanks to be signed by farmers, pledging reduction, also, with the help of such men as they may get to co-operate with them, collect statistics regarding the extent of reduction.

P. S. Grogan, who came down from Hearne on account of the oil mill fire, returned yesterday. Mr. Grogan, who is secretary of the Bryan Cotton Oil Co., thinks that there is no doubt that the oil mill will be rebuilt. If it is not done by the old company, other capital will have to be interested, and will be. Mr. Grogan says Bryan is too big a town and too good an oil mill town to be without a mill.
There is not likely to be a meeting

ten days.

inquiries by parties guessing at the Eagle's knowledge contest, and that it had thoroughly advertised some things that he had been trying to

SOCIAL and Club Matters

Thursday afternoon from three to five at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker one of the prettiest home affairs of the season was given to the Embroidery Club in honor of Mrs. P. S. Tilson by her mother, Mrs. Milton Parker. It was indeed a source of great pleasure to members of this club to have Mrs. Tilson with them once more, as she is one of the most popular members. The guests on entering the parlor found six tables arranged for the delightful game of Forty-two. Pretty score cards were passed by Miss Mary Ross Parker and Miss Frances Chance, after which partners were found and the game was started. Delicious bon-bons were passed during the progress of the games. At the conclusion of the fifth game it was found that Mrs. H. G. Rhodes, after cutting with several ladies, was the victorious one, and she was presented with a lovely piece of china by Mrs. J. T. Hanway, who made a very pretty and appropriate speech. The booty, a light green cabbage filled with pink and light green bon-bons and tied with bows of pink and white ribbons, was given to Mrs. Tyler Haswell. Mrs. Parker has just attached a pianola to her piano and all during the afternoon Mr. Jay Adams furnished the guests with delightful music. Mrs. A. B. Carr, Jr., Mrs. W. H. Oliver, Mrs. P. S. Tilson and Mrs. G. S. Parker assisted their mother in entertaining her guests. A dainty luncheon of salad, crackers, pickles and coffee was served, together with delicious cream and angel cake. Those present were Mesdames J. T. Hanway, Fred Pryor, Ed Hall, Smith of Rouncevert, W. Va., Cliff Adams, F. D. Perkins, Webb Howell, Walter Wipprecht, H. A. Burger, W. C. Davis, G. S. Parker, A. P. Anderson, A. B. Carr, Jr., A. J. Buchanan, Tyler Haswell, Ed S. Darden, E. J. Fountain, John M. Lawrence, Frank Clarke, R. T. Boyle, D. C. LeMaret, J. A. McQueen, H. G. Rhodes, A. McKenzie, Sue Barnes of Waco, Floy Dansby, W. H. Oliver, Malcolm Carnes, Miss Jennie Howell.

Miss Hattie Lou Hudson issued invitations during the week to quite a number of young ladies, as well as students of Allen Academy and the A. and M. College. Also several of the young men of Bryan, for Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. V. B. Hudson. The weather was ideal, bright and spring-like, and every guest who received an invitation was present dressed in their smartest frocks and suits in honor of the hour. This was a red, white and blue party and streamers of American flags converted this pretty home into a patriotic scene. Red and white candles burned in lovely candelabras. Forty-two was the game for the afternoon. The score cards were red, white and blue stars beautifully made, and as each guest progressed they were given a small gold star. Bon-bons in cut glass dishes were passed at intervals. The games were pleasant ones, for everybody was as bright and cheerful as the spring day, and the charming hospitality of Miss Hattie Lou and Mrs. Hudson added the finishing touches to make the occasion a perfect one. The hostess was assisted in making her guests have a good time by Misses Nannie Lou Betts and Judy McConico. Of course a serving of delicious refreshments came when the games were closed, and on this occasion the warm afternoon made the ice cream and cake the "one thing best" to eat and enjoy.

The Bachelor Girls were most beautifully entertained Wednesday afternoon between the hours of three and five with a Texas Day party by Miss Jessie Garth at the hospitable home of her mother, Mrs. F. I. Garth. The game played was the ever popular Forty-two. The score cards were exceptionally pretty, being large gilt stars, and the scores were kept with smaller stars. The house was decorated in keeping with the day, while pretty palms and ferns took a prominent part in the decorations. Miss Garth was assisted in her duties as hostess by her mother, Mrs. Garth, and Misses Hettie Smith and Irene Keeling. The club prize, a gold star stick pin, was won by Miss Elma Harbers, while Miss Foy Wilkerson received the guest prize, a star hat pin. The consolation, a bunch of violets, fell to Miss Sallie Johnson. Frozen pudding and cake were served. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent, and ere the young ladies were aware of it time came to bid their hostess good-bye.

A delightful dance was given at College Thursday evening by the "Bachelors" in the new chemical building. The higher officers of the battalion, the post graduates and the professors and their families were the only ones on the college campus present. Good music was furnished, the floor was splendid and all had a good time. Punch was served all during the evening. The young ladies from Bryan were Misses Emily Thomas, Elma Harbers, Mattie Watkins, Sadie Cavitt, Hettie Smith, Jessie Garth, Ethel Cavitt, Lilla Graham McInnis, Irene Keeling, Lucy Board, Edith Rhodes, Foy Wilkerson of Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Jennie Howell entertained most delightfully Monday evening in honor of Mrs. W. S. Howell's charming guest, Miss Foy Wilkerson of Birmingham, Ala. An invitation to the Howell home is always a guarantee of a good time, and on this occasion but few regrets were sent in. The reception hall and parlor were draped in red and white bunting, while the library was in pink and green. A splendid Mexican band furnished music all during the evening. PRESIDENT SWORN IN

Mr. Roosevelt Takes Oath Before a Vast Gathering.

INDIANIAN INDUCTED

President Pro Tem. Frye Administers In Senate Vice Presidential Obligation to Senator Charles W. Fairbanks.

Washington, March 4.—At the east front of the capitol, in the presence of a vast gathering of his countrymen from every state and territory in the Union and diplomats of nearly every nation, Theodore Roosevelt to-day took the oath of office for the presidential term ending March 4, 1909. Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, in administering the obligation, repeated the solemn function he has performed four times. The stand on which the ceremonies were held was beautifully decorated. The brilliant costumes of the ladies gave the scene the finishing touches of color. Several thousand favored mortals possessing admission tickets thronged the stand, while hundreds of other banded upon every projecting ledge of the capitol building and filled the window.

The official entrance was dramatic. All except those participating in the ceremonies were seated. The associate supreme court justices emerged through the main door. They wore their robes and skull caps. Then came the members of the diplomatic corps in their gorgeous uniforms, led by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador and dean of the corps. Following came members of the cabinet, senators and representatives in congress.

Taking as a signal the arrival of Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of friends, and a moment later Vice President Fairbanks and his escort, the military presented arms, and soon the great sea of people waved hats and flags and nished the program for the evening. The thirty-six guests, at the distribution of the score cards, began in earnest, the contests becoming more spirited and exciting at each successive game. When the games were concluded the fortunate winners of the greatest number of games proved to be Miss Irene Keeling and Mr. Shaw of College, both receiving large American flags. Chocolate bon-bons were passed during the games. Miss Howell is at all times a delightful entertainer and this evening was no exception. Mrs. J. W. Howell and Mrs. Webb Howell assisted the hostess in entertaining. A highly appetizing salad course was served.

L. S. Ross Chapter, U. D. C., held a splendid meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. R. K. Chatham. Mrs. J. W. Johnson, the new president, presided and led in a contest of questions on the civil war. Mrs. W. S. Wilson contributed a pleasing vocal number, and there were excellent recitations by Master Jim Johnson and Miss Bettie Johnson. Mrs. Jas. R. Johnson was elected historian and Mrs. F. I. Garth treasurer at the meeting. The next meeting will be held with the president on March 16 in celebration of Texas heroes day, which falls on the day previous.

The open meeting of the M. I. C. in celebration of Texas Independence day has already been briefly noted in the Eagle. The program has also been published. The numbers were all good, and a great fund of information about the heroic days of Texas might have been acquired by a careful listener, for the ladies had prepared themselves well for the occasion. The recitation, Lasca, by Mrs. Haswell, was very heartily enjoyed. Miss Mai Wilson rendered a piano selection, and responded to a very enthusiastic encore.

Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Nagle of College entertained Wednesday evening complimentary to the civil engineers and College choir. Among the guests were Prof. and Mrs. Spence, Capt. and Mrs. Sargent, Prof. Potts, Capt. Street, Pendleton, Born and Price, Major Church; Misses Bessie Hooper of Calvert, Pennick of Austin, Frances and Esther Davis, Mary and Sophie Hutson, Ethel and Sadie Cavitt, Howell, McInnis; Messrs. Watkins and Fountain and the C. E. students.

Mr. Leon Alexander arrived from Marlin yesterday accompanied by his mother, Mr. Alexander and Miss Alberta Paris will be married at the residence of Mr. Jno. B. Mike at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Rabbi H. Wohlberg of Waco officiating. Mrs. Gussie Alexander Epstein of Marlin will be matron of honor and little Miss Lucile Mike ring bearer.

loudly cheered. President Roosevelt came forth from between the massive pillars quietly and composedly. He was escorted by Chief Justice Fuller. As the president passed to the place where he was to take the oath he bowed right and left in response to the thunderous welcome.

A sign from the chief justice the chief of the supreme court stepped forward holding a Bible. A hush fell over the concourse. Raising his right hand, president took obligation to support the constitution and laws of the United States. When this had been done the chief magistrate delivered his inaugural address, his remarks being attentively listened to. As soon as he had finished speaking, Mr. Roosevelt re-entered the capitol, and as he disappeared within the building an official salute of twenty-one guns was fired at the navy yard.

Seated in a carriage and accompanied by his personal escort, composed of squadrons A of the New York National guard, a detachment of the late First volunteer cavalry, also veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, President Roosevelt went to the senate chamber, where the first ceremony of the day was the inducting into the vice presidential office of Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana. The president was seated in a large red leather chair immediately in front of the presiding officer's desk. The chamber was thronged with diplomats, army and navy officers and other notables, while the galleries were packed. Mrs. Roosevelt and the wife and mother of Mr. Fairbanks were also present, besides the cabinet. Senators and representatives occupied prominent seats. The installation of the new vice president was simple and brief. Senator Frye, president pro tem. of the senate, administered the oath of Mr. Fairbanks. Mr. Frye then turned the gavel over to the vice president and resumed his place on the floor. Before retiring the Maine senator announced the adjournment of the Fifty-eighth congress. Vice President Fairbanks addressed the assemblage. He spoke deliberately and distinctly.

At the conclusion of his address the vice president instructed the secretary of the senate to read the president's call for an extraordinary session of the body. Rev. Dr. Hale, then delivered an invocation, all standing. The organization of the senate was then completed by the swearing in of the senators elected to serve for the next six years. They appeared in platoons of four in alphabetical order at the vice president's desk, each being accompanied by his colleague. The oath was administered by Mr. Fairbanks, followed by signing the membership roll. This completed the organization of the Fifty-ninth senate. All then adjourned to witness the inaugural of President Roosevelt.

After President Roosevelt had been inaugurated he was escorted from the capitol back to the white house to witness the parade. This was one of the most notable one ever witnessed in the city. The parade was reviewed by the president from a stand on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, opposite the white house. It comprised a military guard division, subdivided into divisions and brigades, and included regular troops, West Point and Annapolis cadets, National guards, Civil and Spanish-American war veterans. Major General Wade was chief marshal.

Muldrow Passes Away.

Memphis, March 4.—A Commercial Appeal special from Starkville, Miss. says Chancellor H. F. Muldrow, who served as first assistant secretary of the interior during Grover Cleveland's second term, is dead at his home in that city, aged sixty-eight years.

Starting Information.

San Francisco, March 4.—The Call says that at a late hour Saturday morning came the startling information that during the search of Mrs. Stanford's residence on Nob Hill by detectives Friday a bottle containing strychnine was found. This, it is believed, brings the perpetration of the murder close to home.

Made Four Attempts.

Manila, March 4.—Japanese embarked in fishing sampans made four attempts to sink the British steamer Carlisle, according to a report current here, but were repulsed by the customs guards on board the vessel, who fired upon the sampans.
